

Christmas in Poland

During the winter break we had to decide if we want to stay in Poland or if we are going home for the celebration days. Covid made the decision a little bit easier. We decided to stay in Poland for Christmas and for the whole winter break. For both of us, this time of the year rhymes with sharing. It is also a time to spend moments with your family. This year we experienced an unusual but beautiful Christmas in Wroclaw. Sadly there were no Christmas market but we enjoyed the Christmas atmosphere : lights, decorations, food, music, ...

For us this year in Poland is filled with new experiences, so why not stay in that state of mind and eat atypical food for Christmas?! Why not pizzas for Christmas?! For Christmas Eve we took a walk in the city and ordered pizzas, which were very tasty. And to stay in the Italian mood we also had Tiramisu at our home for desert, made with love.

A German and French girl eating Italian food for Christmas in Poland this is what we call interculturality :))))))

We spent a good time together and are so grateful to live this experience abroad in a warm environment.

On the 26th of December we were kindly invited to Pani Barbaras house. She showed us how the Christmas celebration days can look like in Poland. She cooked a lot of food for us, we were so glad to discover new food, for example homemade Bigos, and tradition. We had a good evening and it was a really heartwarming time.

All in all this Christmas was definitely not „normal“ but it was great to get this experience of a Christmas far away from the traditions. This time is filled with a lot of love and gratefulness. We are super happy to spend this time in this beautiful city, we are thankful for Barbaras engagement to show as a polish Christmas (and also for the food) and we are glad to made this unique experience.

Lots of Love <3
